No. 334.—CIVIL SERVICE: Number of Positions, by Status, on July 1, 1910, Additions by Appointments, etc., and Subtractions by Separations, etc., during the Fiscal Year, and Number of Positions on June 30, 1911.

[Source: The Civil Service Commission.]

[This table is based upon the number of positions shown in the Official Register of 1903, and changes in the service since reported by the departments and offices. Some of the reports were not made in such manner as to permit of a definite distinction as to employment in Washington and elsewhere. The figures are therefore to be regarded as approximate only. Omissions to report certain changes, as explained in the detailed tables, and neglect of details necessary only for statistical purposes also contribute to making the figures approximate only.]

[1] One hundred and thirty-seven positions in the Government Hospital for the Insane and 75 in the Freedmen's Hospital, under "Miscellaneous," have been transferred from the unclassified to the classified columns, as they are now subject to registration tests under the rules.

[2] Most of the unclassified appointments and separations were of persons appointed under the Thirteenth Census Act, outside of the provisions of the Civil Service Act and Rules.

[3] Mechanics and laborers in navy yards are unclassified according to an opinion of the Attorney General, July 6, 1909. Separations are not reported. The number of appointments was 10,140, and the total number of positions was estimated by the department at 25,000 on June 30, 1911.

[4] The positions are those of the Post Office Inspection Service, and postage stamp and card agencies. Changes are included under Post Office Department, Washington, D. C.

[5] The 7,994 presidential positions are those of postmasters, the increase during the year being 372. Of the unclassified positions 12,850 were reported in 1907 as clerks in post offices having no free delivery.

[6] Changes in the force of unclassified fourth-class postmasters are not reported, but the total number diminished during the year by 301. The number of classified fourth-class offices was diminished by advancements to the presidential class so that the number on June 30, 1910, was actually 14,648, or 545 less than given in the last report. Of the 1,365 separations 382 were due to advancement of fourth-class offices to the presidential class.

[7] The number (4,597) under excepted positions indicates pension examining surgeons and specialists for pensions, a net loss of 63 during the year.

[1] Special agents of the bureaus of Census, Manufactures, Fisheries, and Navigation, and field officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

[2] This number is 470 smaller than in the report for 1910, because of 75 employees in the Freedmen's Hospital now treated as competitive, and 545 fourth-class postmasters made presidential.

[3] The number of unclassified employees on June 30, 1910, appears smaller by 212 than in the last report, because 75 in Freedmen's Hospital have been placed in the competitive columns, and 137 are no longer carried as unclassified in the Government Hospital for the Insane, being now subject to registration tests.

[4] Only changes in the force subject to examination are included in the body of this table.

[1] On account of the abundance of eligibles remaining from the previous year few examinations were held; percentage upon the basis of these figures would therefore be deceptive.

[1] The civil-service rules prior to Apr., 1903, defined the Departmental Service as including all classified positions except those in the Post Office, Customhouse, Internal Revenue, and Government Printing Services. The majority of such positions is found in the field, not in the departments at Washington, but all former reports have shown them as "Departmental," following the civil-service rule referred to. In this report for the first time an effort has been made to limit "Departmental" to its original meaning, showing field-service examinations under a separate heading; hence the apparent great discrepancy in the "Departmental" figures as compared with those in previous reports.
