Section 29
Distribution and Services

This section presents statistics relating to retail and wholesale trades and selected service industries. Data shown for the distribution trades, classified by kind of business, and for the various categories of services (personal, business, repair, amusement, hotel, etc.) cover sales or receipts, establishments, employees, payrolls, proprietors, and other items. Also included are several tables on advertising expenditures.

The principal sources of these data are the reports of the Census of Business and of annual and monthly surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census. Data on retail sales, wholesale inventories and sales, consumer expenditures for services, etc. appear in the monthly Survey of Current Business, issued by the Bureau of Economic Analysis (formerly the Office of Business Economics). Financial data for tax-filing and securities-listed corporations engaged in retail, wholesale, or service activities, and for sole proprietorships and partnerships similarly engaged, appear in the annual Statistics of Income, published by the Internal Revenue Service, and are also available from the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Federal Trade Commission collects operating statistics on firms and chains in various kinds of business.

Censuses and current surveys.—Censuses of business have been taken at intervals since 1929. Beginning with the 1967 census, legislation provides for a quinquennial census to be conducted for years ending in "2" and "7".Only preliminary and incomplete results from the 1972 census, conducted in 1973, were available in July 1974.

Current sample surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census cover various aspects of the retail and wholesale trades and selected service industries. Estimates of weekly sales in retail stores are shown for the United States, by kind of business, in the Bureau's Weekly Retail Sales Report. Its Monthly Retail Trade Report contains monthly estimates of sales and end-of-month accounts receivable of all retail stores, and of retail organizations operating 11 or more stores, for the United States, by kind of business. Also included are monthly retail sales data for census regions and divisions, 15 large States, and 20 large standard metropolitan statistical areas. Annual figures on sales, sales-stock ratios, merchandise purchases, and year-end inventories and accounts receivable, by kind of business, appear in the Annual Retail Trade Report.

Statistics from the Bureau's monthly wholesale trade survey include merchant wholesalers' sales, inventories, and stock-sales ratios by kind of business, for the United States, as well as sales and inventory trends by kind of business and by geographic divisions. Monthly sales estimates are also shown by geographic divisions for the summary groups—durable and nondurable goods wholesalers and all wholesalers combined. These data, based on reports submitted by a sample of firms, appear in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Report. The monthly Selected Services Receipts Report provides monthly estimates of receipts for six major kind-of-business groups for the United States as a whole. These data also appear in the Survey of Current Business.

Estimates obtained from annual and monthly surveys are based on sample data and are not expected to agree exactly with results that would be obtained from a complete census of all establishments. Data include estimates for establishments not reporting; however, measures of sampling variability, shown in the source reports, exclude biases arising from differences of response or from nonreporting.

Establishments and coverage.—The business establishments covered in the Census of Business are classified into 3 groups as follows: (1) Retail trade, places of business primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal or household consumption; (2) Wholesale trade, establishments primarily engaged in selling goods to dealers and distributors for resale or to purchasers who buy for business uses; and (3) Selected services, establishments engaged primarily in the sale of services as contrasted with the sale of merchandise. Figures for establishments refer to those in business at the end of the year.

The Census of Business excludes the activities of doctors, dentists, and others performing a professional or scientific service except that dental laboratories, law firms, architects, and engineers were covered in the 1967 census (see table 268). Also excluded are educational institutions; religious or charitable institutions; hospitals and infirmaries; public utilities; and Government-operated enterprises, except wholesale and retail liquor operations.

Data from the 1958 census exclude retail and service nonemployer establishments which had receipts of less than $2,500 and $1,000, respectively. In the 1963 and 1967 censuses, nonemployer establishments which did not operate the entire year were included if, during the period they operated, their receipts were at a rate which would have reached the annual totals specified had they operated the entire year. Wholesale trade establishments with no paid employment are excluded.

Advertising.—The statistics on advertising expenditures are compiled by private organizations. McCann-Erickson, Inc., which compiles certain of the data shown, defines national advertising as the advertising done for companies whose products are distributed nationally, and for which national media rates are paid; and local advertising as the advertising done for companies which market their products locally and which may pay special "local" media rates. Monthly figures are published regularly in Advertising Age and in the Survey of Current Business. Total corporate expenditures for advertising, by industry, appear in Statistics of Income.

Section 30

Foreign Commerce and Aid

This section presents data on the flow of goods, services, and capital between the United States and other countries; changes in official gold reserves of the United States; international investments; foreign assistance programs; and import duties.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis (formerly the Office of Business Economics) publishes current figures on the U.S. balance of payments and international investment position in its monthly Survey of Current Business, and on total foreign aid by the Federal Government in its periodic Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government. Figures for earlier periods are presented in Balance of Payments—Statistical Supplement, 1963 revised edition, and in the June issues of the Survey of Current Business. Statistics for the foreign aid programs are presented by the Agency for International Development in its semiannual Operations Report and in two annual reports, U.S. Economic Assistance Programs Administered by the Agency for International Development and Predecessor Agencies and U.S. Overseas Loans and Grants, and Assistance from International Organizations; and by the Department of Agriculture in its Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States. Geographic data on foreign income received by U.S. corporations and foreign taxes paid on this income are presented by the Internal Revenue Service in its Supplemental Statistics of Income reports.

The principal sources of import and export data are publications of the Bureau of the Census. Current data are presented monthly in Report FT 135, U.S. Imports, General and Consumption, Schedule A Commodity by Country; Report FT 410, U.S. Exports, Schedule B Commodity by Country; and Report FT 990, Highlights of U.S. Export and Import Trade. Historical data appear in Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, issued annually through 1946 and resumed in 1965 with a volume covering the years 1946 to 1963, followed by volumes for 1964 and 1965. For a complete list of the Bureau's monthly and annual reports in this field, consult the Bureau of the Census Catalog and the Guide to Foreign Trade Statistics (issued annually since 1967). In addition, the Bureau of International Economic Policy and Research and the Bureau of Economic Analysis present summary and selected commodity and country data for U.S. foreign trade in the Overseas Business Reports and the Survey of Current Business, respectively. The Treasury Department's Annual Report of the Secretary contains information on import duties.

International accounts.—The balance of payments table (No. 1308) shows, for given time periods, the transfer of goods, services, grants, and financial assets and liabilities between the United States and the rest of the world.

The international investment position table (No. 1310) presents for specific dates the value of U.S. investments abroad and of foreign investments in the United States. The movement of foreign and U.S. capital as presented in the balance of payments is not the only factor affecting the total value of foreign investments. Among the other factors are: Changes in the valuation of assets or liabilities, including securities; defaults; expropriations; write-offs; and reinvested earnings of subsidiaries operating abroad and of foreign subsidiaries operating in the United States.

Foreign aid.—Foreign assistance is divided into three major categories—grants (military supplies and services, and other grants), credits, and other assistance (through net accumulation of foreign currency claims from the sale of agricultural commodities). The U.S. Government's capital investments in the international financial institutions constitute an additional measure taken by the Government to promote foreign economic recovery and development.

Grants are transfers for which no payment is expected (other than a limited percentage of the foreign currency "counterpart" funds generated by the grant), or which at most involve an obligation on the part of the receiver to extend aid to the United States or other countries to achieve a common objective. Credits are loan disbursements or transfers under other agreements which give rise to specific obligations to repay, over a period of years, usually with interest. In some instances, assistance has been given with the understanding that a decision as to repayment will be made at a later date; such assistance is included in grants. At such time as an agreement is reached for repayment over a period of years, a credit is established. Such credits cannot, as a rule, be deducted from specific grants recorded in previous periods; an adjustment for grants converted into credits is made at the time of agreement. All known returns to the U.S. Government stemming from grants and credits (reverse grants, returns of grants, and payments of principal) are taken into account in net grants and net credits, but no allowance is made for interest or commissions. Other assistance represents the transfer of U.S. farm products in exchange for foreign currencies (plus, since enactment of Public Law 87–128, currency claims from principal and interest collected on credits extended under the farm products program), less the Government's disbursements of the currencies as grants, credits, or for purchases. The net acquisition of currencies represents net transfers of resources to foreign countries under the agricultural programs, in addition to those classified as grants or credits.

Figures as published in Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government are not identical with figures shown for Government unilateral transfers and capital in the balance of payments, mainly because of differences in treatment of particular items by the two sets of accounts. Such items include: Contributions to the multilateral construction program of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Government investments in certain productive enterprises abroad; Government receipts on funded claims; and net changes in foreign currency holdings resulting from transactions other than those under the farm products program, such as by collection of principal and interest and by purchase for dollars.

The basic instrument for extending military aid to friendly nations has been the Mutual Defense Assistance Program authorized by the Congress in 1949. Prior to 1952, economic and technical aid was authorized in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1948, the 1950 Act for International Development, and other legislation which set up programs for specific countries. In 1952, these economic, technical, and military aid programs were combined under the Mutual Security Act, which in turn was followed by the Foreign Assistance Act passed in 1961. Appropriations to provide military assistance to certain countries in Southeast Asia were made in the Department of Defense Appropriation Act (rather than the Foreign Assistance Appropriation Act) beginning in 1966. Figures on activity under the Foreign Assistance Act as reported in Foreign Grants and Credits differ from data published by the Agency for International Development or its immediate predecessors due largely to differences in reporting, timing, and treatment of particular items.

Exports.—Export data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census primarily from Shipper's Export Declarations which are required to be filed with customs officials for shipments leaving the United States. Export data include shipments made after World War II under the Department of the Army Civilian Supply Program for 1948 and subsequent years and, in addition, U.S. exports under mutual security programs. They exclude shipments to U.S. Armed Forces for their own use.

Export values are based on the selling price (or on the cost, if not sold) of the commodity shipped and include inland freight, insurance, and other charges to the U.S. port of exportation. They exclude transportation and other costs beyond the U.S. port of exportation. The country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or country where the merchandise is to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured, as known to the shipper at the time of exportation. In the event the shipper does not have definite information as to the country of ultimate destination, the shipment is credited (for statistical purposes) to the last country to which the shipper knows the merchandise will be shipped in the same form as exported.

Certain export commodity classifications were grouped for security reasons into special categories beginning with May 1949, with periodic amendments to include additional commodities or to remove commodities from the special category list. With the adoption of new security regulations, effective July 1950, publication of the country of destination and customs district detail for special category commodities and groups was discontinued. Data for such commodities are included in all total export statistics and, for 1967 through 1972, in totals for individual countries except a few for which regulations still restrict the release of such information. All annual 1973 country, continent, and area totals shown here include exports of Special Category commodities as a result of the declassification of such totals.

Through the years and continuing to date, the export statistics include estimated data for certain low-valued shipments, based upon selected samples of such shipments. In general, shipments valued $100–$499 were estimated for July 1953 through September 1969, except for January–June 1956 when shipments valued $100–$999 were estimated. For Canada, the upper value limit of the sampled shipments was increased from $499 to $1,999, effective January 1963. Effective October 1969, data are estimated for shipments valued $251–$1,999 to Canada and $251–$499 to other countries, except for January–August 1970 when the data were fully compiled. The statistics also include estimates for shipments valued under $100 prior to October 1969 and shipments valued under $251 effective October 1969, not classified by commodity. The over-$251 sampled shipments represent about 3 percent of the total value of exports, and the under-$251 shipments about 1.5 percent.

Imports.—Import data are compiled by the Bureau of the Census from import entries (various customs forms) which importers are required to file with customs officials. Import values are, in general, based on market value in the foreign country and exclude U.S. import duties, freight charges from the foreign country to the United States, and insurance. The country of origin is defined as the country in which the merchandise was grown, mined, or manufactured. If the importer does not know the country of origin, the merchandise is credited (for statistical purposes) to the country of shipment.

Imports are classified either as general imports or imports for consumption. General imports represent total arrivals of imported goods (except for in-transit shipments), that is, merchandise entered for immediate consumption ("duty free" merchandise, merchandise on which duty is paid on arrival, and merchandise entered into customs bonded manufacturing warehouses for processing and subsequent export of the main product) plus merchandise entered into customs bonded storage warehouses and into customs bonded smelting and refining warehouses. Imports for consumption are the total of entries for immediate consumption plus merchandise withdrawn from customs bonded storage warehouses for consumption, withdrawn from customs bonded smelting and refining warehouses, and transferred from customs bonded storage warehouses to customs bonded manufacturing warehouses for manufacturing and export.

The import statistics include estimated data for certain low-valued shipments. From July 1953 through June 1965, data for informal entries (generally containing items valued under $251) and various types of formal entries valued under $100, in general, were estimated, while data for formal and informal entries valued under $251 have been estimated since July 1965. The estimates, although not compiled in terms of individual commodities, are included in country and continent figures and in total import figures. The total value of the estimated low-valued shipments generally amounts to about 1 percent of the monthly or annual import total.

Area coverage.—The geographic area covered by these statistics, except as noted, is the United States customs area, which includes the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and, for 1935 through 1939, the Virgin Islands.

– Represents zero. Z Less than $500,000. [1] July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1973. All lend-lease and conversions of prior grants to credits are from V-J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). [2] For details, see table 1317.
[3] Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (P.L. 87–195), as amended. Also includes predecessor and related programs.
[4] Includes military assistance under Dept. of Defense Appropriation Act. 1966 (P.L. 89–394) and later acts.
[5] Beginning 1964, Defense Dept. transactions estimated. [6] Net new grants not adjusted for settlements, postwar relief and other grants under agreements, and net new credits exclude prior grants converted into credits, which were as follows: July 1945–December 1955, $2,198 million; 1956–66, $491 million; 1972, $994 million. Repayments on these settlements are included in net new credits.
[7] Developed countries include Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand, Republic of South Africa, all countries listed under "Western Europe" in table 1317, except Spain, Yugoslavia, and Malta and all countries listed under "Eastern Europe" in table 1317. Developing countries include all other countries listed in table 1317.
[8] Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act. [9] Outstanding credits on Dec. 31, 1973, totaled $33,226 million representing net credits extended since organization of Export-Import Bank, Feb. 12, 1934, less chargeoffs, and net adjustments due to exchange rates ($1,288 million), and excluding World War I debts. The amount repayable in dollars at U.S. Government option was $27,534 million; the remainder was repayable in foreign currencies, commodities, or services, at the option of the borrowers. [10] Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act.
[11] Equivalent value of currencies still available to be used, including some funds advanced from foreign governments and after loss by exchange rate fluctuations ($1,334 million), was $938 million on Dec. 31, 1973. [12] Includes foreign currencies acquired from triangular trade operations and principal and interest collections on credits, originally extended under P.L. 83–480, which—since enactment of P.L. 87–128—are available for the same purposes as P.L. 83–480 currencies.

[1] The figures for Economic Aid shown in this table represent total U.S. Economic Aid—not just the Aid under the Foreign Assistance Act. Major componets in recent years include the Agency for International Development, Food for Peace, the Peace Corps, and paid-in subscriptions to International Financial Institutions, such as IBRD, and IDB. The cumulative totals for 1946–1973 are ture totals net of deobligation; annual figures however, are gross unadjusted program figures. The Military Aid data include Military Assistance Program (MAP) Grants, foreign military credit sales, service-funded programs, and excess defense articles. More detailed data ane a more detailed description of the data, both economic and military, are contained in the source documents listed below.

[1] For 1960, reflects declassification of special category commodities as authorized January 5, 1968; area and country totals reflect relaxation of security restrictions as authorized July 17, 1969. See footnote 8.

[2] Includes estimates for low-valued shipments from countries which could not be identified because of illegible reporting on import entries.

[3] Includes 677 unidentified countries, not shown separately.

[4] Developed countries include Canada, Western Europe, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and Republic of South Africa; developing countries include rest of the world excluding Communist areas in Europe and Asia. Assignment of countries generally follows that made by United Nations.

[5] Finland included in Other Western Europe for 1960 and in EFTA and OECD thereafter.

[6] Excludes Special Category exports, if any, for 1960; includes Special Category exports, if any, thereafter. See footnote 8.

[7] Iceland included in Other OECD for 1960 and in EFTA thereafter.

[8] Prior to 1973, security regulations required that information on exports of Special Category Commodities be excluded from the totals for certain countries. See Abstract of the United States; Oct. 1969 and Nov. 1973 issues of Report FT 990; and Jan. 1970 issue of Report FT 410 for further explanation and list of Special Category Commodities.

Section 31

Outlying Areas Under the Jurisdiction of the United States

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural organization of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and similar data for the principal possessions of the United States (Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa), the Canal Zone, and, wherever possible, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

Primary sources of these data are the decennial censuses of population, housing, and agriculture, and the quinquennial censuses of business and manufactures conducted by the Bureau of the Census; the annual Vital Statistics of the United States issued by the Public Health Service; the biennial Statistics of State School Systems published by the Office of Education; and the Minerals Yearbook of the Bureau of Mines.

Jurisdiction.—The circumstances under which the United States gained jurisdiction over these areas are as follows:

The islands of Puerto Rico and Guam, surrendered by Spain to the United States in October 1898, were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Paris, ratified in 1899. Puerto Rico became a commonwealth on July 25, 1952.

The Virgin Islands were purchased by the United States from Denmark in 1917.

American Samoa was acquired by the United States in accordance with a convention among the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, ratified in February 1900.

The use, occupation, and control of the Canal Zone were granted to the United States under the terms of a treaty with the Republic of Panama, ratified in 1904.

The Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands is comprised of 2,141 atolls and islands, about 96 of which are inhabited. This territory, formerly under Japanese mandate, was placed under the United Nations trusteeship system by an agreement approved by the Security Council in April 1947, and by the United States in July 1947.

For a brief summary of the territorial development of the United States, see tables 4 and 288 in sections 1 and 6, respectively.

Censuses.—Because of differences in the population and housing characteristics and the varieties of agricultural products among the outlying areas, the presentation of census data is not uniform for all areas. However, the tables in this section give, as nearly as possible, comparable data for the areas. The 1960 Census of Population covered all of the places listed above except the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (the census of which was conducted in April 1958 by the Office of the High Commissioner), whereas the 1960 Census of Housing covered only Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. The 1970 census of Population and Housing covered all six areas. The 1959 and 1969 censuses of agriculture covered Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands; the 1964 Census covered the same areas except American Samoa. Censuses of business and manufactures were conducted in Puerto Rico for 1954, 1958, 1963, 1967, and 1972, and in Guam and the Virgin Islands for 1958, 1963, 1967, and 1972. Preliminary data are available from the 1972 Census of Manufactures, but are not available from the censuses of business—wholesale trade, retail trade, and selected services.

For definition and explanation of terms used, see section 1, Population; section 23, Agriculture; section 27, Construction and Housing; section 28, Manufactures; and section 29, Distribution and Services.

Information in other sections.—In addition to the specialized statistics presented in this section, other data are included as integral parts of many tables showing distribution by States in various sections of the Abstract.

Section 32

Comparative International Statistics

This section presents summary statistics on the industrial, social, and agricultural developments of the various nations and on finances of international agencies.

The principal source for the data presented in this section is the United Nations Statistical Yearbook. Statistics of the individual nations may be found primarily in official publications, generally in the form of yearbooks, issued by most of the nations at various intervals in their own national languages, expressed in their own or customary units of measure. For handier reference, especially for international comparisons, the Statistical Office of the United Nations compiles and issues a number of international summary publications, generally in English and French. Among these are the Statistical Yearbook; the Demographic Yearbook; the Yearbook of International Trade Statistics; the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics: Vol. III, International Tables, Population and Vital Statistics Reports (quarterly); the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics; World Energy Supplies; and The Growth of World Industry: Vol. I, General Industrial Statistics, and Vol. II, Commodity Production Data.

For foreign agricultural, labor, and education statistics, the outstanding sources are publications of specialized agencies of the United Nations, such as the Production Yearbook issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization, the Yearbook of Labour Statistics issued by the International Labour Office, and the Statistical Yearbook issued by the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization. The International Population Statistics Reports, series P–90 and P–91, issued by the Bureau of the Census, also present population figures for many foreign countries.

Statistical coverage and country names.—Problems of space and availability of data limit the number of countries and the extent of statistical coverage shown here. The list of countries included is based on, but not limited to, the membership rosters of the United Nations and of the larger specialized agencies of the United Nations (see table 1384). In a few instances, member countries were omitted because of an almost complete lack of data.

Country names are generally shown here as specified in the source publications cited. In two instances, the form of presentation differs from that of the source, the United Nations Statistical Yearbook. "China" in the Yearbook is identified here as the "People's Republic of China" and "China (Taiwan)" respectively, and "United Republic of Tanzania" is identified here as "Tanzania".

Economic associations.—The Organisation for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC), a regional grouping of Western European countries established in 1948 for the purpose of harmonizing national economic policies and conditions, was succeeded on September 30, 1961, by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). The OECD consists of the member nations of the former OEEC—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United Kingdom—and also Finland, Canada, the United States, Japan, and Australia, plus Yugoslavia and New Zealand in special status categories.

The European Economic Communities (EEC), or "Common Market," consists of Belgium, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, and, as of January 1, 1973, Denmark, Ireland, and the United Kingdom. The EEC was formed in 1958 as the European Economic Community for the purpose of promoting European economic integration. It is based on agreement among the member nations to stimulate their economic growth, primarily through the gradual elimination of trade barriers among themselves, the establishment of a common external tariff, the coordination of monetary, fiscal, and agricultural policies, and the removal of restrictions on movement of services, labor, capital, and business enterprises within the community.

The European Free Trade Association (EFTA), established in late 1959, consists of Austria, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and, prior to 1973, Denmark and the United Kingdom. It represents an agreement among the member nations to promote free trade and economic cooperation in Europe through gradual elimination of tariffs and quotas among themselves but without establishment of a common external tariff.

Quality and comparability of the data.—The quality and the comparability of the data presented here are affected by a number of factors:

(1) The year for which data are presented may not be the same for all subjects for a particular country, or for a given subject for different countries, though the data shown are the most recent available. All such variations have been noted. The data shown are for calendar years except as otherwise stated in headnotes or footnotes. Space considerations made it impracticable to present the data for a series of years except for a limited number of subjects.

(2) The bases, methods of estimating, methods of data collection, extent of coverage, precision of definition, scope of territory, and margins of error may vary for different items within a particular country, and for like items for different countries. Footnotes and headnotes to the tables give a few of the major time-period and coverage qualifications attached to the figures; considerably more detail is presented in the source publications. Many of the measures shown are, at best, merely rough indicators of magnitude.

(3) Figures shown in this section for the United States may not always agree with figures shown in the preceding sections. Disagreements may be attributable to the use of differing original sources, a difference in the definition of geographic limits (the 50 States, conterminous United States only, or the United States including certain outlying areas and possessions), or to possible adjustments made in the United States figures by the United Nations in order to improve their comparability with figures from other countries.

Conversion factors.—To facilitate comparison in terms of familiar units, some items shown in metric units in the source have been converted to U.S. equivalents by means of the abbreviated conversion factors shown below. Additional conversion factors appear, pages x and xi.

CONVERSION FACTORS

Metric units	U.S. equivalents

No. 1356. Population and Area, by Country

[Population data generally are present-in-area estimates for the present territory. For some countries, however, estimates include national armed forces and diplomats stationed outside the country and exclude alien armed forces, foreign diplomats, and enemy prisoners of war stationed within the country. Except as noted, area data include inland waters. See text, p. 812, for general comments concerning the data. For details of methodology, coverage, and reliability, see source]

No. 1359. Housing and Health, by Country

[Housing: Data generally intended to refer to conventional (permanent) dwellings only. For some countries, however, data include nonpermanent structures, improvised shelters, and mobile trailers, or, as noted, refer to housing units and to household accommodation (the space occupied by a private household) rather than to dwellings. Health: Hospital data refer to hospitals and other medical establishments with beds but exclude old people's homes and establishments for custodial or preventive care only; personnel data refer to persons fully qualified from medical or dental schools and working within the country. See text, p. 812, for general comments concerning the data. For additional qualifications of data for individual countries, see source]

No. 1359. Housing and Health, by Country—Continued

Housing: Data generally intended to refer to conventional (permanent) dwellings only. For some countries, however, data include nonpermanent structures, improvised shelters, and mobile trailers, or, as noted, refer to housing units and to household accommodation (the space occupied by a private household) rather than to dwellings. Health: Hospital data refer to hospitals and other medical establishments with beds but exclude old people's homes and establishments for custodial or preventive care only; personnel data refer to persons fully qualified from medical or dental schools and working within the country. See text, p. 812, for general comments concerning the data. For additional qualifications of data for individual countries, see source]

No. 1362. Average Annual Rates of Growth of Gross Domestic Product, by Kind of Economic Activity

[In percent. Based on gross domestic product at constant prices. Methods used to obtain estimates of gross domestic product at constant prices and the years to which these prices relate vary widely among countries. In general, "Agriculture" includes forestry, hunting, and fishing; "Industrial activity" covers mining, manufacturing, electricity, gas, and water; and "Other" comprises financing, insurance, real estate, and business services; community, social, and personal services; and public administration and defense. Unless otherwise stated, data are calculated on the former System of National Accounts (see Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics, 1969)]

[1] Refers to calendar year in which all or most of the harvest took place, generally 1971. All commodities index relates to food, fibers, tobacco, industrial oilseeds, rubber, tea, and coffee; food index relates to crops and livestock products for human consumption. Deduction made for feed and seed used in production process.
[2] Components of these indexes vary considerably among countries; for details, see source.
[3] Refers, in general, to salaried employees and wage earners in manufacturing. Includes workers on holiday or vacation; excludes employers, self-employed, and workers on strike, on temporary military leave, or temporarily laid off.
[4] In many instances, represents index only for principal city (or cities) of particular country.
[5] General wholesale price index numbers usually weighted by gross value of sales on wholesale markets.
[6] As of 3d quarter of 1973, except as noted. Indexes based primarily on common shares traded on leading exchange. In some cases, where an index of industrial shares is not available, a general index, including shares of companies in transportation, distribution, and finance fields, is reported.

NA Not available. [1] Generally, data are for a specific date in the 1960's; for Mexico and U.S.S.R., 1970. Includes unemployed. [2] Comprises utilities generating primarily for public use. Relates to production at generating centers, including station use and transmission losses. [3] Based on apparent consumption of coal, lignite, petroleum products, natural gas, and hydro and nuclear electricity. [4] Production of manufactured goods, including assembly of component parts and, except in the case of consumer goods, repair services. Excludes gas manufacture and electricity. For 1971, except as noted.

[5] Coverage varies widely. For most countries, refers, to single plants or factories with more than a specified number of employees, as noted. For additional or alternative qualifications, see source.

[6] Comprises average number of employees, working proprietors, and unpaid family workers, except as noted.

[7] Covers merchandise including silver (except current coin); excludes gold and issued paper currency. Imports generally valued c.i.f.; exports, f.o.b. Generally includes government trade (including foreign aid, war reparations, and military goods), trade of foreign concessionaires, and postal trade. See source for "general trade" or "special trade" distinctions. Roughly half the countries shown fall into each category, thus affecting comparability.

[8] Excludes trade of People's Republic of China, Mongolia, Democratic People's Republic of Korea, and Democratic People's Republic of Vietnam with one another.

[9] Excludes inter-trade between German Democratic Republic and Federal Republic of Germany.

[10] Imports and exports include Puerto Rico. [11] Net production (excluding station use).

[12] Source: 1967 Census of Manufactures. [13] Establishments with 1 or more employees.

[14] Paid employees, excluding working proprietors. [15] F.O.B.

[16] Includes foreign aid. [17] For 1964. [18] Excludes armed forces abroad.

[19] Year ending June 30. [20] Establishments with 20 or more employees.

[21] Luxembourg included with Belgium. [22] For 1968. [23] For 1969.

[24] All enterprises in socialist sector except publishing. [25] For 1970. [26] For 1963.

[27] Year ending Sept. 30. [28] Establishments with 10 or more employees.

[29] Excludes armed services. [30] For 1967. [31] For 1971. [32] Excludes armed forces and unpaid family workers. [33] Establishments with 5 or more persons engaged or gross value of production of 24,000 pesos or more.

[1] Source presents data in metric tons. Conversion to barrels allows for differences in specific gravity of petroleum. Figures refer to crude petroleum including shale oil, but excluding natural gasoline. [2] Excludes lignite and brown coal, except as noted. [3] Total production of crude steel, both ingots and steel for castings. Excludes wrought (puddled) iron. [4] Data represent apparent consumption (i.e., production plus imports minus exports) and do not take into account changes in stocks. [5] Data do not include steel for castings made in foundries operated by companies not producing ingots. [6] Year ending June 30. [7] Luxembourg included with Belgium. [8] Excludes alloy steels. [9] Ingots only. [10] Includes lignite. [11] Includes brown coal. [12] For 1970. [13] Year beginning March 21. [14] Includes Okinawa. [15] For 1971. [16] Svalbard: Norwegian operated mines only. [17] Excludes Bangladesh. [18] Great Britain only. Excludes production at quarries.

[1] Refers to production of milk (cow, sheep, goat, and buffalo) for consumption fresh or for conversion into butter, cheese, condensed milk, etc. Excludes milk sucked by, but includes milk fed to, young animals. Data include estimates of Food and Agriculture Organization.

[2] Covers malt liquors (beer, ale, stout, porter, etc.) of varying specific gravity or alcoholic strength. Excludes tax-free malt beverages of very low alcoholic content.

[3] Refers generally to iron content of marketable ores mined, including manganiferous iron ores but excluding pyrites. Some data are rough estimates obtained by applying a fixed percentage to figures for crude ore production.

[4] Covers, as far as possible, all hydraulic cements used for construction (portland, metallurgic, aluminous, natural, etc.).

[5] Covers both sea and inland fisheries, in terms of live weight. Includes shellfish; excludes whales, dolphins, etc.

[6] Excludes tire cord yarn, except as noted. [7] Refers to carded and combed (worsted) yarn.

[8] Covers the production of non-cellulosic man-made continuous filaments, excluding spun fibers and textile glass continuous strands. These filaments are best known as nylon, terylene, orlon and saran.

[9] In thousands of gallons. [10] Excludes manganiferous iron ores containing 5% or more of manganese.

[11] For 1968. [12] For 1971. [13] For 1970. [14] Excludes liquid malt. [15] Year beginning July 1.

[16] Includes tire cord yarn. [17] Including milk sucked by young animals. [18] Includes landings by domestic craft in foreign ports and excludes landings by foreign craft in domestic ports. [19] For 1969.

[20] Production in Sao Paulo only. [21] Includes yarn of man-made staple. [22] Includes both landings by domestic craft in foreign ports and by foreign craft in domestic ports. [23] Factory production only.

[24] Government production only. [25] Shipment from mines. [26] Year beginning April 1.

[27] Includes landings by foreign craft in domestic ports. [28] Data for Taiwan Province are included with China.

[29] Year ending Sept. 30. [30] Excludes landings by foreign craft in domestic ports. [31] For 1966.

[32] Year ending Sept. 10. [33] Excludes yarn made from waste. [34] Excludes both landings by domestic craft in foreign ports and by foreign craft in domestic ports. [35] Year ending July 1. [36] Year beginning March 21.

[37] Excludes landings by domestic craft in foreign ports and includes landings by foreign craft in domestic ports.

[38] Includes iron content of iron sand and pyrites. [39] Includes Okinawa. [40] Includes some carbonated drinks.

[41] For 1965. [42] Year ending in May. [43] Excludes Bangladesh. [44] Includes Bangladesh. [45] For 1967.

[46] Includes iron content of iron pyrites. [47] Production for sale only. [48] Includes Walvis Bay.

[49] Excluding milk fed to livestock. [50] Includes Ceuta, Melilla, Balearic Islands and Canary Islands.

[1] As of June 30. Represents gross registered tons (see text, p. 576) for vessels of 100 gross tons and over. Excludes vessels without mechanical means of propulsion; includes sailing vessels with auxiliary power. Excludes ships trading on Caspian Sea.

[2] In general, represents sum of net registered tonnages (see text, p. 576) of seagoing foreign and domestic merchant vessels (power and sailing) entered with cargo from a foreign port and refers to only one entrance for each foreign voyage. Except as noted, excludes vessels "in ballast," i.e., entering without unloading goods.

[3] Represents weight of all goods (including their packing) in external trade loaded to and unloaded from seagoing vessels of all flags at ports of country specified. For most countries, excludes bunkers, ships stores, ballast, and transshipment (goods transshipped from an importing vessel to an exporting vessel).

[4] Relates to domestic and international traffic on all railway lines within each country shown, excluding railways entirely within an urban unit and plantation, industrial mining, funicular and cable railways. In general, passenger miles include all passengers except military, government, and railway personnel when carried without revenue; ton-miles relate to freight net ton-miles and include all goods whether carried by fast or ordinary trains except service traffic, mail, baggage, and nonrevenue governmental stores.

[5] Covers both domestic and international scheduled services operated by companies registered in each country. Includes supplementary services occasioned by overflow traffic on regularly scheduled trips and preparatory flights for new scheduled services.

[6] Represents officially estimated number of vehicles in use. Includes passenger cars and commercial vehicles. For most countries shown, excludes 2-and 3-wheeled cycles and motorcycles, trams, trolley buses, ambulances, hearses, military vehicles, police and special purpose or government security vehicles, trailers, and farm tractors.

[7] Includes Great Lakes. [8] After time adjustment, loaded approximately same as unloaded. [9] Excludes People's Republic of China, U.S.S.R. (which became a member of ICAO on Nov. 14, 1970), and other nonmembers of International Civil Aviation Organization as of Dec. 31, 1970.

[10] Excludes People's Republic of China, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, and Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

[11] Includes Great Lakes international traffic. [12] Includes vessels in ballast. [13] For 1971.

[14] Year ending June 30. [15] For 1970. [16] All entrances counted. [17] For 1968.

[18] Includes service traffic. [19] Year ending Sept. 30. [20] Including Great Lakes and St. Lawrence international traffic. [21] Year beginning Apr. 1. [22] Includes Faeroe Islands. [23] For 1967.

[24] For 1969. [25] Year beginning March 21. [26] For 1964. [27] Excludes Bangladesh.

[28] Buses and trucks only. [29] Includes Namibia. [30] Excludes Northern Ireland.

[1] Excludes gold used in payment of a country's subscriptions to International Monetary Fund or International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. Reported in U.S. dollars at $38 per ounce.

[2] Foreign exchange holdings ordinarily include foreign currencies, bank deposits abroad, payment and clearing agreement balances, and short-term foreign bills and securities (generally those with an original maturity of 1 year or less) and, in those instances where information is available, foreign investments held by official institutions. Excludes subscriptions to International Monetary Fund, drawing rights in the European Payments Union or the European Fund, undrawn portions of foreign loans, and similar rights to incur foreign debts. Holdings have been converted into U.S. dollar equivalents at par value or, in absence of a par value, at official exchange rate.
