a It should be borne in mind that the counties embraced in this summary are not represented by the same period of time. This explains the apparently great increase of debt in certain years, among which 1870 is conspicuous.

a The numbers for acres and lots in Pennsylvania have necessarily been estimated, because the records of confessions of judgments in this state do not disclose whether they incumber acres or lots. The ratios derived from the figures for the 6 New York counties in which special investigations were conducted have been adopted in making the estimates.
