TABLE 3.—AGGREGATE POPULATION BY MINOR CIVIL DIVISIONS: 1880 AND 1890.

[By the term "minor civil divisions" is to be understood the primary divisions, that is, the divisions which, taken collectively, make up the county. These differ in different parts of the country not only in name but in character and degree of organization. In this table these primary divisions of the county, as townships, cities, towns, election precincts, hundreds, civil districts, etc., are set out to the marginal line, while the secondary subdivisions, that is, those which form parts of the former, are indented one space under them. In certain counties where secondary subdivisions only are shown (the primary divisions not having been separately returned by the enumerators) such subdivisions are also set out to the marginal line.]

[The spelling of the names of counties and civil divisions is in accordance with the decisions of the United States board on geographic names.]
