

Meet Your Instructors

Course: Analyzing Census Data in Excel

ADAM HECKTMAN

Adam Hecktman is the Director of Technology & Civic Innovation for Microsoft in Chicago. He works with local organizations to empower them through technology to achieve positive social impact and equity.

Mr. Hecktman is also the city lead for Chicago on the Microsoft Cities team. This team is committed to understanding local needs and opportunities, leveraging resources, and working alongside civic leaders to forge cross-sector partnerships that drive collective action and sustainable impact.

ALEXANDRA BARKER

Alexandra Barker is a supervisor for the Data Dissemination and Training Program of the U.S. Census Bureau. She is also the co-founder of Census Academy, which is the new digital hub of the Census Bureau for learning data skills.

The mission of the Data Dissemination Program is to build and maintain relationships with stakeholders across the nation through the dissemination of Census data and training. Mrs. Barker has been part of this program since its implementation in 2011.

