

2015 Administrative Record Modeling

Vincent Thomas Mule, Jr.
Team Leader, Administrative Records Modeling Team
U.S. Census Bureau

Thomas Mule will provide updates on the research plans using administrative records for the 2015 Census Test, scheduled to begin in April 2014. This presentation will provide an overview of the different ways that administrative records are being utilized during this test. The discussion will include using administrative records to reduce contacts, identify best contact times for interviewing and compensate for unresolved contacts and characteristics.

Discussion Questions:

What is your reaction to how we could possibly use administrative records to eliminate or reduce the number of contacts during NRFU?

What is your reaction to how we are using administrative records to help determine the best time to contact units during NRFU?

What is your reaction to how we could possibly use administrative records for unresolved units after NRFU is completed or for missing characteristics?
