[1] Under the law allotments of grants to the several States for any year are to be determined each year by an apportionment based upon the returns of population at the last census preceding the allotment. Allotments based upon the census of 1920, for years subsequent to that census, will differ from the allotments for these years shown in the table, which are based upon the census of 1910, according as the distribution of the population by States in 1920 differs from that in 1910. Since the total amount available in any year for allotment to the States is specifically designated in the law, States showing for the decade 1910–1920 relatively high rates of increase for their population—total, urban, and rural, respectively—will receive allotments somewhat greater, and States showing relatively low rates of increase will receive allotments somewhat smaller than those specified in the table. If expended by the State, Federal money must be matched dollar for dollar, with State or local money.

[2] It can not be announced at this time whether the tabulated returns of the 1920 census will be available as a basis of apportionment for the year 1920–21.

[3] Figures for subsequent years can be estimated.

[4] North Atlantic region: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland. Southern region: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas. East Central region: West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri. West Central region: North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico. Pacific region: Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Washington, Oregon, California.

[5] The totals shown below include annual lump-sum appropriations by Congress to cover guarantees of minimums of $5,000 and $10,000 to each State. In the actual apportionment of grants to the States on the basis of rural, urban, and total populations the sum of the special allotments to make up the guaranteed minimums for each year does not quite equal the lump-sum appropriation made to provide for these special allotments. The totals given below for the several types of education, therefore, exceed slightly the totals shown above of allotments to the several States. There is included below, moreover, the annual appropriation, not apportioned to the States, of $200,000 to the Federal Board for administrative expenses, and for making studies, investigations, and reports relating to vocational education.

[1] Federal money is expended in the States under plans prepared by State boards for vocational education and approved by the Federal board. Not all of the States have developed their systems of vocational education to the point where all of the Federal grants (as shown in table preceding) are utilized.
[2] Provisional figures subject to correction by final auditing of State accounts.
[3] Decrease.
[4] For States included in each region, see note 4, p. 117.

No. 92.—VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION OF DISABLED SOLDIERS, SAILORS, AND MARINES BY THE FEDERAL BOARD FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION: NUMBER OF DISABLED MEN IN TRAINING PURSUING VOCATIONAL COURSES DEC. 27, 1919, BY CLASSES OF TRAINING AND COURSES OF STUDY.

[Source: Federal Board for Vocational Education. The records of the rehabilitation division of the Federal Board for Vocational Education for Dec. 27, 1919, show that to that date a total of 204,732 names of disabled soldiers, sailors, and marines had been reported from the 14 district offices to the central office. This total includes a very considerable number of duplicate registrations. The board had established contact, either by letter or by personal conference, in 168,830 cases, and had vocationally surveyed 138,317 cases. District office case boards had approved for vocational training under the Federal law 45,783 cases, and had disapproved for such training 3,349 cases. A total of 33,836 cases approved by the district offices had been reported to and approved for training by the central case board. A total of 24,286 cases were reported as having entered upon vocational training. Of these, 21,284 were still in training on Dec. 27, 1919. The character of courses being taken by these men and the number of men in each course are shown in the following table.]

[1] "Schools," as here used, synonymous with "classroom." Rooms with a double enrollment—one class in the morning, another in the afternoon—counted as two. Figures for years subsequent to 1905-6 give the average number of schools open; figures for prior years, the whole number of schools open at any time during the year.

[2] For years subsequent to 1905–6, number of teachers employed at the end of the school year.

[3] No data.

[4] No night schools were maintained in 1916.

[5] Expenditures for school purposes.

[1] The figures relate to United States public schools outside of incorporated towns only, and, for years subsequent to 1906, to public schools for native children only. By the act of Jan. 27, 1905, the management of the schools for white children outside of incorporated towns devolved upon the governor of Alaska as ex officio superintendent of public instruction, the native schools being left under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Education. Statistics of white schools for the school year 1916–17 are as follows: Teachers, 68; enrollment, 1,778; average daily attendance, 1,397; grade school graduates, 94; high-school graduates, 15; salaries of teachers, $80,100; total expenditures, $136,632.

[2] Includes salaries, equipment, supplies, travel, freight, fuel, light, repairs, local expenses, and janitor services.

[3] Salaries of 50 employees in Alaska.

[4] Includes salaries of superintendent, assistant superintendents, and chief of Alaska division.
