Chapter III—SIZE OF ESTABLISHMENTS

TABLE 1.—GENERAL STATISTICS FOR ESTABLISHMENTS CLASSIFIED AS TO SIZE BY NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES, FOR MAJOR INDUSTRY GROUPS AND INDUSTRIES: 1947

[Money figures and man-hours in thousands. For explanation of line captions see GENERAL EXPLANATIONS. Data for any size class which cannot be shown without disclosing information for individual companies have been combined with figures for an adjacent size class. A [d] appears in the column where the figure has been omitted and the combined figure is printed in italics. As a result, whenever size-class figures for individual industries (4-digit codes) appear in italics, or the symbol [d] has been substituted, the figures for the individual industries within a major industry group (2-digit codes) will not add to the major industry group total printed for that size class. Similarly, major industry group figures will not add to the all-industries printed totals for those size classes in which italicized figures or [d] symbols appear for one or more major industry groups. For the smaller size classes, the relation of value added by manufacture to production workers and man-hours may provide a misleading measure of labor productivity because of the fact that in unincorporated firms a substantial contribution to value added is made by proprietors and partners, who often spend a considerable amount of their time doing production work, but are not counted as production workers. This is particularly true in the Apparel and Leather industries where, in addition, many of the reports are from jobbers who make a large contribution to value added but employ few, if any, production workers]

[1] Man-hours are not shown separately for the three smallest size classes because a large number of small sawmills did not report this information. An estimate of man-hours for these mills is included, however, in the industry totals for "Lumber and products, except furniture" (Major Industry Group 24) and "Sawmills and planing mills" (Industry 2421) and in the "All industries" total for each of the three smallest size classes.

[2] Man-hours for the three smallest size classes are not shown separately for certain of the "Printing and publishing industries" because small establishments were not required to report this information. Estimates of man-hours for these establishments are included, however, in the respective "All establishments" totals for these industries and for the "Printing and publishing industries" (Major Industry Group 27). These estimates are also included in the "All industries" total for each of the three smallest size classes.

[1] Man-hours are not shown separately for the three smallest size classes because a large number of small sawmills did not report this information. An estimate of man-hours for these mills is included, however, in the industry totals for "Lumber and products, except furniture" (Major Industry Group 24) and "Sawmills and planing mills" (Industry 2421) and in the "All industries, total" for each of the three smallest size classes.

[2] Includes data for Shingle mills (Industry 2423).

[1] Man-hours for the three smallest size classes are not shown separately for certain of the "Printing and publishing industries" because small establishments were not required to report this information. Estimates of man-hours for these establishments are included, however, in the respective "All establishments" totals for these industries and for the "Printing and publishing industries" (Major Industry Group 27). These estimates are also included in the "All industries" total for each of the three smallest size classes.

[1] Man-hours for the three smallest size classes are not shown separately for certain of the "Printing and publishing industries" because small establishments were not required to report this information. Estimates of man-hours for these establishments are included, however, in the respective "All establishments" totals for these industries and for the "Printing and publishing industries" (Major Industry Group 27). These estimates are also included in the "All industries" total for each of the three smallest size classes.

[1] Man-hours for the three smallest size classes are not shown separately for certain of the "Printing and publishing industries" because small establishments were not required to report this information. Estimates of man-hours for these establishments are included, however, in the respective "All establishments" totals for these industries and for the "Printing and publishing industries" (Major Industry Group 27). These estimates are also included in the "All industries" total for each of the three smallest size classes.

TABLE 2.—GENERAL STATISTICS FOR ESTABLISHMENTS CLASSIFIED AS TO SIZE BY NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES, FOR DIVISIONS AND STATES: 1947

Money figures in thousands of dollars. For explanation of line captions see GENERAL EXPLANATIONS. Figures for any size class which cannot be shown without disclosing information for individual companies have been combined with figures for an adjacent size class. A [d] appears in the column where the figure has been omitted and the combined figure is printed in italics. As a result, whenever size-class figures for individual States appear in italics, or the symbol [d] has been substituted, the figures for the individual States within a division will not add to the division total printed for that class. For the smaller size classes, the relation of value added by manufacture to production workers may provide a misleading measure of labor productivity because of the fact that in unincorporated firms a substantial contribution to value added is made by proprietors and partners, who often spend a considerable amount of their time doing production work, but are not counted as production workers]
