

CLASSIFIED INDEX OF OCCUPATIONS AND INDUSTRIES

INSTRUCTIONS

General

The Classified Index presents, for each category in the occupational and industrial classification systems, the individual titles which constitute the particular category. The categories are shown in the same order as they appear in the classification systems (pages XI to XX). Within each category, the component titles are arranged alphabetically.

The list of titles for each category may be considered as constituting a definition of the category. The lists, however, are not exhaustive; rather they are illustrative of the content of the categories and are largely limited to the more common individual titles. The development of exhaustive lists prior to the Census is not possible, since each Census reveals many new occupation and industry titles. Furthermore, the effective use of the Index by the clerical staff necessitates a limitation of the size of the Index.

The user of the Classified Index should have available its companion volume, the Alphabetical Index. The latter contains explanations of the code structures and classification systems, as well as other helpful information. Even more important, however, is the fact that the Alphabetical Index is required in interpreting certain of the titles listed here, as explained in the "Special Notes" section below.

Occupation

Occupation titles appear in the Classified Index in two basically different ways:

1. They appear alone, indicating that any such occupation return is classified in the specified category. For example, the listing "Accountant" under the category "000 Accountants and auditors" on page 1 means that all occupation returns of "Accountant" on the schedules are included in this category.

2. They appear with an industry and/or class-of-worker entry, indicating that a schedule return of the given occupation title is classified in the particular category only if its accompanying industry and/or class-of-worker return on the schedule meets the stated limitation. This use of industry as a guide in classifying the occupation returns is necessary because the same occupation title is sometimes applied to entirely different kinds of work in different industries. Class of worker is used for similar reasons. These limitations appear in the following forms:

a. The occupation title is followed by two dashes and a specific industry title. This combination means that the occupation title is included in the particular category only if the accompanying industry return on the schedule is the same as the one given. For example, the listing "Director--Art gallery" in the category "014 Artists and art teachers" means that this category includes only those occupation returns of "Director" which are accompanied by an industry return of "Art gallery." Occupation returns of "Director" accompanied by other industry returns are classified in other occupation categories, e.g., 104, 165, 270, and R.

b. The occupation title is followed by two dashes and an industry code. This combination means that the occupation title is included in the particular category only if the accompanying industry return on the schedule is covered by the given industry code. For example, the listing "Engineer, abrasive--409" in the category "061 Engineers, chemical" means that this category includes only those occupation returns of "Engineer, abrasive" which are accompanied by an industry return classified in industry category 409 (Miscellaneous chemicals and allied products manufacturing). Occupation returns of "Engineer, abrasive" with an industry return not classified in category 409 are included in the occupation category "085 Engineers, mechanical."

c. The occupation title is followed by two dashes and an "industry term." An "industry term" covers three or more industry codes, and means that the occupation return is included in the particular category if the accompanying industry return is classified in any of the component industries. The following is a list of the terms and the industry codes each covers:

Auto service.....	656, 657, 808
Dairy products.....	A, 307, 609, 637
Electric and gas utility.....	567, 568, 569
Food and kindred products.....	306 to 326
Jewelry and silverware.....	G, 296, 686, 809
Manufacturing.....	B, M, 206 to 459
Metalworking.....	L, M, 237 to 276, 809
Mining.....	126 to 156
Optical goods.....	286, 287, 618, 689, 867
Photo processing.....	287, 396, 398, 807, 839, 846
Pipe lines.....	519, 568, 569
Public administration.....	J, 906 to 936
Railroad cars.....	L, 276, 507, 526
Retail trade.....	D, F, G, 637 to 696
Steel.....	237, 238, 246 to 248
Textile.....	346 to 356
Transportation.....	L, 507 to 526
Wholesale trade.....	606 to 629
Woodworking.....	207 to 209

To take an example, the listing "Annealer--metalworking" in the category "435 Heat treaters, annealers and temperers" means that this category includes only those occupation returns of "Annealer" which are accompanied by an industry return classified in any one of industry categories L, M, 237 to 276 or 809.

d. The occupation title is followed by two dashes and a class-of-worker designation:

- Pr - for private employer for wages, salary, commission, tips, etc.
- Gov - for government (Federal, State, city, county, etc.)
- Own - in own business, farm, profession, trade, etc., for profits or fees
- WP - without pay on family farm or business

This combination means that the occupation title is included in the particular category only if the accompanying class-of-worker return on the schedule is the same as the one given. For example, the listing "Apiarist--own" in the category "N Farmers (owners and tenants)" means that this category includes only those occupation returns of "Apiarist" which are accompanied by a class-of-worker return of "Own." Certain occupation titles carry both an industry and class-of-worker limitation. For example, the listing "Housekeeper--826--Own" in the category "821 Boarding and lodging-house keepers" means that this category includes only those schedule returns of "Housekeeper" which are accompanied both by an industry return classified in industry category 826 and a class-of-worker return of "O."

Industry

In both the occupation and industry sections of the Index, the following abbreviations have been used in listing industry titles:

- Const. - for such words as construction, building, excavating, etc.
- Mfg. - for such words as manufacturing, factory, mill, plant, etc.
- Ret. - for such words as retailing, retail store, retail shop, etc.
- Whsl. - for such words as wholesaling, wholesale company, wholesale store, etc.
- Ext. - for such words as mining, mine, well, quarry, etc.

Special Notes

Meaning of the triangle (▲) symbol.--Certain of the occupation and industry titles listed in the Classified Index carry limitations that cannot be readily defined here. These titles are identified by a triangle (▲), and represent residual items which are designated in the Alphabetical Index as "Any not listed above." In order to determine the exact coverage of the title in such cases, it is necessary to consult the Alphabetical Index. For example, the occupation title "Clay modeler--▲" appears under "014 Artists and art teachers" on page 2 of the Classified Index. This listing corresponds to the listing "Clay modeler....Any not listed above" on page 111 of the Alphabetical Index. As can be seen from the latter, "Clay modeler" is classified in occupation category "014 Artists and art teachers" only if the accompanying industry return on the schedule is not covered by industry category 219 or 268.
