[1] Because of a tabulating error discovered too late for correction, the figures for "Cotton manufactures" include about 2,200 employed white female wage or salary workers (in South Carolina) who should have been tabulated as in "Silk and rayon manufactures." The great majority of these were probably "At work."

[1] Because of a tabulating error discovered too late for correction, about 2,200 employed white female wage or salary workers (in South Carolina) were included in "Cotton manufactures" who should have been tabulated as in "Silk and rayon manufactures." The great majority of these were probably "At work."

[1] Because of a tabulating error discovered too late for correction, about 2,200 employed white female wage or salary workers (in South Carolina) were included in "Cotton manufactures" who should have been tabulated as in "Silk and rayon manufactures." The great majority of these were probably "At work."
