- Questions were previously laid out in a grid format with the questions across the top and the names down the left side. In 2008, the format was changed to a columnar format with the questions for a person going down a column from top to bottom. This was done to make it consistent with the 2010 Census form.
- The List of Residents was replaced with collecting the person's name in the column with the rest of their data.
- The rules of whom to include and not include on the list were moved to the question on the cover page asking number of people at address.
- The instruction of how to complete the form if no one is staying at the address for more than 2 months was removed.
- The telephone number to call for help with filling out the form was removed.
- For Person 6 through Person 12, sex and age are collected in addition to name.
